SPOTLIGHT ON HERITAGE DISCUSSION GROUPS BY RACHEL MCGEE

Over the semester, Saint Mary's staff took part in Heritage Discussion Groups, which explored "Lasallian Origins and Heritage" and "The Catholic Intellectual Tradition."

Twin Cities Library has made the Heritage Discussion Group readings available for those students and staff who were unable to participate. Find them on display in the Library.

"BABETTE'S FEAST"— FOR THE EYES AND THE HEART BY STEVE SWANSON

With this film review column, I will reveal those cinematic jewels I have encountered during my exploits as a motion picture enthusiast.

I am not a foodie, but my mouth was watering while watching "Babette's Feast." Through luxurious photography, this film demonstrates the power of great food and illustrates the way that beauty – culinary, aesthetic, spiritual, or logical – can ennoble the human experience. Watch this movie – you and your palate won't regret it!

Volume 4, Issue 3, Spring 2011 SPOTLIGHT: Mme. Pince

J. K. Rowling regretted making Hogwarts' librarian, Madam Irma Pince, into a nasty, vulture-like creature who would like to keep all her books under lock and key, safe from anyone who might actually read them. But, as Rowling says, if Harry and Hermione had "a pleasant, helpful librarian, half my plots would be gone." We are thankful to report that Mme. Pince is fictional. This portrait of her is by the English artist Red Scharlach; read more about Pince at the Harry Potter Lexicon.

SOUND OF SILENCE BY CARRIE KEILLOR

Are you getting distracted by too much noise? The librarians converted the Special Collections Room (across the hall from the library) into a dedicated quiet study area. Now you can curl up in a comfortable chair, claim a study table or use a computer while enjoying the peace and quiet.

JANE'S A POET— DON'T CHA KNOW IT BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twin Cities Library's own Ms. Jane Littlefield is winner of the Saint Catherine University Library's Annual Haiku Contest! Known for her silky prose, Jane showed everyone why literary blondes have more fun.
