

~Twin Cities Writing Center~
Guide to Online Resources From APA Style Help
(a Web site of the American Psychological Association)

Publication Manual

Changes from the 5th edition: Chapter-by-chapter description of changes

Corrections to the First Printing of the 6th Edition

Supplements to the Manual

To keep the manual brief, the APA placed some materials online instead. Examples of these materials appear in the list below. If you want to view all supplements, click on the link above.

DSM Citation

Language Bias Table: Summarizes guidelines for avoiding bias in language.

Disabilities

Gender Terminology

Sexual Orientation

Metric Units

Subject and Verb Agreement

Learning Resources

Frequently Asked Questions

Free Tutorial: Basics of APA Style

Online Course: Mastering the Sixth Edition

Additional Learning Resources

APA Style Blog

Users send questions about APA style; APA editors provide answers. Blogs are archived by topic category. Before you send a blog, please check with the TC Writing Center to see if a similar blog has already been sent.

Citing Wikipedia

Citing a Kindle

(continued)

APA Preferred Spelling of Electronic Terms

database
DOI
e-journal
e-mail
FTP
Internet
LISTSERV* (tm) – the generic term is electronic mailing list online
PDF
SGML
URL

Web *LISTSERV is a trademarked, proprietary term; unless you know that is what is being used, you should use "electronic mailing list" rather than the, admittedly, more commonly used "list server."

More APA Style Resources on the Twin Cities Writing Center Online

Introduction to the APA 6th Edition A supplement to the APA manual. Designed for Saint Mary's.

APA Templates APA-formatted samples papers, tailored to papers assigned in various Saint Mary's programs. Students can download the templates, save them, and use them to get a quick start on a paper.

APA Citation Tutorials Videos or documents providing step-by-step instructions for locating information in Saint Mary's SGPP databases and documenting the information in APA style. This is a work in progress, with priority on sources used in the School of Business & Management, for which the APA provides few examples.